My overseas stay has been extended by 3 days. Is it covered under the 'automatic extension of the policy for 7 days' clause?

No, you will have to extend your policy for the required number of days by paying extra premium for the same. Automatic extension of the period of insurance is granted upto a period of 7 days, from the policy expiry date, only if the extension is necessary, due to delay by the Scheduled Airlines, which is beyond the control of the Insured, and no alternative air transportation is made available to the Insured.
